Many Things Are Meant

By many dealers who claim to handle groceries. When they advertise GOOD GROCERIES no mention is made of PRICE. When price is mentioned QUALITY IS OVERLOOKED. Again, sometimes they dwell on the virtues of a LARGE STOCK. In this case no claim is made to carrying FRESH GOODS.

We Preach the Three Main Virtues of Groceries—

They are mentioned in their regular order and the happy combination is causing hosts of pleased patrons at our store.

LABOR AND THE TRUSTS.

One of the most unaccountable conditions there is upon the country is a tendency by a large body of the industrial classes to give a continued support to its most pronounced enemy, which is organized capital for wicked and illegitimate purposes, directed against laboring men. What labor can be thinking upon, under the circumstances by which it is encompassed, is an indignity to many who have given thought to the subject. There is not anything that has been done, or that is intended to be given form as law by a United States Congress, now in session, that is not directly in opposition to labor and the higher interests of the people.

There is a stolid indifference by those who live by honest industry to the consequences there are continually presented for their consideration affecting their present and future welfare. There is action which has a tendency to give assurance that the future will give support to those who are observing and weighing the movements in the interest of the people of the trust power. Which will have an enlivening effect upon the minds of those who are the friends of the toiling millions, whose earnings are sought after by every means that can be devised to secure an unjust share of the fruits of labor, and that the unjust share may be secured and continued to be taken to swell the millions there is invested in trusts.

There is much said about good times by those who do not understand the operating causes that bring or remove these times, or if they do understand the principles upon which their existence depend, they presume upon the intelligence of the people when credit is given to McKinley, or to the Republican party, or any political party in existence. Good or bad times do not have their controlling principles in politics. The existence of either is in cause and effect, or, in other words, in supply and demand.

There is so much parrot-like talk about good times and about bad times continually that we are led to a conclusion that those who do the talking do not understand the cause of good or bad times, or they are trying to deceive themselves, or are trying to deceive others. There is a relative force that outside influences have upon all things and upon all conditions. Causes may be produced that will limit the supply of any product, and other causes may limit the demand; but these influences act upon supply or demand and largely control one or the other, or both, but the influences that may effect are not of the principle.

The large steel and wire trust mills and factories in Indiana and Illinois have lately closed down and thousands of people have been deprived of the means to earn a living, who will likely continue for an indefinite time, unemployed.

The capital invested in these trust factories and mills is under the special care of McKinley, Mark Hanna and the Republican party, but the fostering care of these three has not been sufficient to overcome natural causes operating upon the industry. Over-production is given as a cause for suspension which is very likely true. There is another cause that has largely been a means to bring about a suspension of production, which is not given as a matter of policy, which cause is the increase in price of all products of these factories.

The price of products turned out by these mills has been almost doubled in the last year, which is, perhaps, the chief cause for suspension, as the people have declined to buy the products of the trust at the price fixed by it, which refusal to buy is an effect produced by the price, and the products of the trust remain unsold and it is called over-production when it would be more truthfully described by saying over price.

The effect of the over price of steel and wire and other products of the trust will cause suspension in improvement and development and thousands of people who would have employment under favorable conditions in the price of steel, wire and other productions in iron, will go idle, and it may be many of them will go without the comforts of life. Hanna, McKinley or the Republican party have nothing to do with the principle of cause and effect applied, except in a relative sense, which relative sense respecting their action has been the means that has caused the principle of supply and demand to act upon the products of the steel-wire mills, which has also been the cause of depriving many thousands of people of a means to live.

Hanna said trusts are doing no harm. McKinley said "Yes, Mark, that is so," and the Republican party is saying Hanna and McKinley are right. Trusts are receiving protection from Congress while it is declaring that all the legislation has been made that can be made against trusts. The industry of the country in all departments where steel and iron are used like the mills is shut down, because the price of these products is too high to justify their use. Thousands of men are unemployed because of these shattings down which Hanna, McKinley, and the Republican party will term protection to American labor. Protection to American trusts, which is the policy of Hanna and McKinley, is death to American labor and to American liberty.

ADVANCE OF LORD ROBERTS' ARMY

Outcome of the War Largely Depends Upon The Present Campaign.

Special to the JOURNAL.

LONDON, April 18.—The advance of Robert's army has already begun under the guise of an attempt to entrap the Boers who have been besieging Wepener. The columns are admitted to be in motion from Aliwali north and from Reddersburg for the relief of the garrison of Wepener, but it is suspected that there are other columns operating further north which have not been mentioned by Roberts, and that he has entered upon the great turning movement which will render the enemy's position north of Bloemfontein untenable.

DENVER, April 18.—Professor J. E. Stubbs of Reno has been appointed on the committee which is to draft the clause of the Arid Land bill, which will deal with accommodating the leasehold boundaries to the common use of the available water on the public domain.

We have saved many doctor bills since we began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home. It is certainly a medicine of great merit and worth.—D. S. MEARLE, General Merchant and Farmer, Mattie, Bedford county, Pa. For sale by Wm. Finniger.
It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at the drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by Wm. Finniger.

Let There be Light.
There seems to be an impression among quite a number that it was Gus Koppe's stage that met with the recent accident which happened on the Geiger grade to a number of gentlemen who were on the way to Reno to attend a political meeting. Such is not the case. It was a private four-horse rig and not the stage at all.

MARRIAGE OF AN EARL

Lord Russell, a Peer of England,
Weds a Second Wife in This City.

The whole world is agog with the news of the marriage in this city of Lord Russell and Mrs. Mollie Cook. The presumably happy event occurred Sunday afternoon at the Riverside hotel. Judge B. F. Carler tied the twain into one. George Cheek as usual witnessed the ceremony. The other witness was a young man named Stanley, said to be the son of the fair young bride. The Countess gave her age to the license clerk as "over 18." So, apparently, is her son. The noble Earl confessed to 35 years. The whole affair was kept a secret. That is, there was an honest effort on the part of all the participants to do so. Silence is golden and gold is often minted.
Well, to go on with the story, the bride and groom departed next day for Colorado Springs. If they continue on eastward until they sight the chalk cliffs of Albion, the lord will find himself threatened with an English prison and the bride will probably be absent a title and husband, for it is alleged that the earl never went through the formality of securing a divorce from Lady Russell No. 1.
His worshipful highness has been knocking around the States for the past year, traveling incognito. He occasionally turned up at Glenbrook on the lake. A coincidence is that the fair bride was herself a resident of this summer resort for nearly a twelve month past. Some people darkly hint that Mrs. Mollie Cook was the "woman in the case" in the attempt made some months ago to dissolve the marital relations between the earl and his first wedded countess, but as to this our deponent wotteth not.

A MINING COMPANY

Holds an Important Meeting—
Progress of Exploration
Work.

A meeting of the directors of the Nevada Exploration and Development company met last evening at the office of Secretary Norcross, pursuant to a call by the president, John Sunderland. The purpose of the meeting was to decide what should be the best method to proceed in the matter of working the claims recently discovered by J. H. Brown, who is in the employ of the company as prospector.
A few days ago Mr. Brown found a zone of low grade copper ore on the summit of Peavine mountain. Twelve locations have been made on the proposition. It is said to be 20 feet wide. In places it carries very pretty native copper.
At the meeting a committee was appointed to go out and inspect the progress of the work. They will report at another meeting of the board to be held this evening. It was decided to increase the working force at the claims.
Accommodating Merchants.
We, the undersigned business men and store-keepers, do hereby agree to close our places of business Saturday, April 21st, between the hours of 10 and 12 A. M., as requested by the young ladies of the University basket-ball team:
Sol Levy, Tassell Bros, O Novacovich, Cunningham & Ferguson, Great American Importing Tea Co., Palace Dry Goods House, People's Store, Folsom & Cahlan, Nevada Hardware and Supply Co., Racket Store, O F Kolster, John Urban, I N Bakeless, if all close; John Sunderland, if all close; H Leter, Reno Mercantile Co., if all close; J B Bradley Co., W C Hildebrand & Co., if all close; Mrs F Petrie, Coffin & Larcombe, R Nelson, P Andrenoeith, S Emrich, A W Fox, M Frank & Co.

A Man With a Scheme.
A. A. Hibbard, formerly manager of the Susanville, Cal., co-operative store has come to Reno to organize such a store. The Susanville store has over 200 members and since its organization has done a very successful business. There are also similar stores at Alturas and Adin, Cal., besides fifteen or more in other California towns. All are run on the plan of the great English and Scotch stores that have been in successful operation for over 50 years. Last year the English stores sold over $100,000,000 worth of goods.
The Widow Will Receive.
"The Real Widow Brown" holds a reception at the opera house Tuesday evening. This lady is a real personage and about her hinges some of the most amusing complications ever introduced into farce comedy. Her attendant merry-makers comprise some of the cleverest comedians and comedienne on the stage. She is a devout admirer of bright up-to-date songs and captivating dances, and the play is full of them.

METROPOLIS OF THE SAGEBRUSH STATE

A Brief Write-up of Reno and Her Resources--The Queen City of Nevada.

In support of his bill for the erection of a new public building at Reno, which bill has already passed the Senate, Senator Stewart gives the following reasons why such a building is needed:
Reno has a population of 7,000 people and has doubled in size and population in the last ten years. It is the largest town between Sacramento, Cal., and Ogden, Utah, a stretch of nearly 1,000 miles. It is a railroad center of increasing importance, being upon the Central Pacific and the terminus of two other railroads; namely, the Nevada, California & Oregon, which is the outlet of northern California and eastern Oregon, and the Virginia & Truckee railroad, a spur of which is known as the Carson & Colorado and extends 300 miles down into southern California.
The town is beautifully situated in the valley of the Truckee river, at the base of the Sierras, and a few miles from the heart of a great lumber industry. The river has a fall of nearly 2,000 feet in 60 miles, affording the best water power on the Pacific coast, being used for reduction works, sawmills, flour mills, an immense new paper mill costing nearly a million dollars, electric power to operate the Comstock mines, thirty miles away, the electric lighting of the town and a variety of other purposes.
The basis of the town's prosperity, aside from manufacturing, and the beauty and healthfulness of its location, is a contiguous farming section of about 30,000 acres. The value of the farm crops is above $600,000 annually. In addition 40,000 head of cattle are yearly fattened and shipped out of the town for the markets of the East and West. Here is located the Nevada State University, State Normal school and Agricultural College, having an aggregate of about 400 students.
Reno has a second-class postoffice with free delivery system, the postal receipts of which have increased 43 per cent in the last ten years, the last fiscal year amounting to $11,578 05.
The offices of the United States surveyor-general, district attorney, marshal, collector of internal revenue and a Government agricultural experiment station is located here.

CO=EDS IN BATTLE

Contest Between the Reds and Blues for Athletic Honors.

A match game of basket-ball was played in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon. Seven little girls in blue and seven little girls in red were the principals in the event, and right valiantly did each individual member of the opposing teams struggle for victory. Perhaps it was because the pretty cerulean uniforms were the prettier; perhaps their wearers were more agile and scientific—at any rate the little girls in blue won by a good wide margin.
In order that the names of the winners may be blazoned on the sky-piece of the temple of fame, they are given as follows, to-wit: M. Nash, F. Gedney, M. Warren, T. Kruger, E. Sparks and K. McGowan. Misses Allen and Rammekamp were their substitutes.
In order that the defeated reds may be known and consoled their names are immediately hereinafter also published: F. Kerby, I. Bradshaw, L. Hill and L. Becker. Their substitutes were M. Scott and O. Weatherers.
Miss Linscott officiated as referee, Miss Henry as umpire, Miss Arnot as timekeeper and Miss Holmes as scorer.
All the scores were made in the first half. The blues scored two field goals, netting two points each, and the same number of goals on fouls, which were only half so valuable. One solitary field goal was the luck of the poor, overfallen reds. Thus the score was six to two.
